DETAILED ACTION

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 13, line 10 has mean-plus-function language.

>35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph states that a claim limitation expressed in means-plus-function language "shall be construed to cover the corresponding structure...described in the specification and equivalents thereof." "If one employs means plus function language in a claim, one must set forth in the specification an adequate disclosure showing what is meant by that language. If an applicant fails to set forth an adequate disclosure, the applicant has in effect failed to particularly point out and distinctly claim the invention as required by the second paragraph of section 112." In re Donaldson Co., 16 F.3d 1189, 1195; 29 USPQ2d 1845, 1850 (Fed. Cir. 1994) (in banc).

The proper test for meeting the definiteness requirement is that the corresponding structure (or material or acts) of a means (or step)-plus-function limitation must be disclosed in the specification itself in a way that one skilled in the art will understand what structure (or material or acts) will perform the recited function. See Atmel Corp. v. Information Storage Devices, Inc., 198 F.3d 1374, 1381, 53 USPQ2d 1225, 1230 (Fed. Cir. 1999).

There is no mention of the claimed means. There is nothing in the drawings that is suggestive of the means. Applicant has failed to show what is meant by the language. There is nothing which would help one of ordinary skill determine what structure will perform the recited function. Since present application fails to meet the standards as set forth in the case law, it is deemed that the claims fail to comply with the 2nd paragraph of 35 USC 112.

Claim 13, line 10: there is no antecedent basis for "the gas" and confusing antecedent basis for "the passageway". Lines 7-8 refer to "at least one radial passageway". If there is more than one passageway, it is unclear if line 10 refers to all of the passageways, or only one of them.

It is unclear what is meant by the means being external means – as to what it is external to. If the means is external to the apparatus, then the means really isn't part of the apparatus. Everything is external to something. One of ordinary skill would be unclear as to what the means is external to.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

There is no disclosure for any external means for supplying the gas. Examiner could find no discussion or drawing which shows such.

There is no support for the limitation that the apparatus is configured to continuously rotate the external means or the rotary body. At most the rotary body is rotated – but there is no indication that it is done continuously, that the apparatus itself does the rotating or that an external means is rotated. In fact, page 9, line 8 (and other places) indicates that it is done periodically. This is deemed to being a prima facie showing. The burden is now on applicant to demonstrate that there is support for the present claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 13-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

It is argued that support for claim 13 amendments can be found at page 8, 9 and 10 and figure 2-3. Examiner has considered these partitions – as well as the rest of the disclosure. However, there is nothing which would indicate to one of ordinary skill that the inventors had possession of the claimed invention.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 1731

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
